This voluntary recall was initiated after the retailer, ALDI, conducted routine testing as part of their standard protocol to verify the accuracy of allergen-related claims made on their product labeling, specifically a “does not contain peanuts” statement. One test result indicated a potential presence of a peanut allergen. Although internal testing conducted by Vita Warehouse Corp. has verified the absence of peanuts in the product, the recall is being initiated out of an abundance of caution to ensure consumer safety and trust.

No other Welby®, Berkley Jensen®, and VitaGlobe™ brand products are affected by this recall. Vita Warehouse Corp is committed to maintaining the highest product safety and quality standards.

Consumers who are allergic to peanuts and have purchased and with the lot code 248046601 and an expiration date of October 2026 are urged to return them to the place of purchase for a full refund or discard them immediately. Any consumer who experiences an allergic reaction should seek medical attention right away.

For questions, please contact the company at 1-855-214-0100 Monday-Friday from 7:30 am – 4pm EST.

This recall is being conducted with the knowledge of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.
